

Week 4. Friday. Phonics

That Tricky Troll has returned! He had words for you last week, that didn't really make sense when sounded out. But, we just have to learn them and keep practicing. We also need to make sure that Mr Tricky Troll does not confuse us!

These were his words last week. We are going to learn some more tricky words today. But first, have another look at the words. Cover them over and now, can you remember how to say them? Can you spell them?

Our new tricky words today are, what, when and out.

If you sound out the new words and write the word, they may look different to mine. That is why we just have to remember them! They are tricky words!

Maybe a game would help you remember?

Can you draw a really funny shape on a piece of paper?

Here is mine and I have written some tricky words.

Once you have drawn something similar, can you write a tricky word in each section? Then, you can repeat writing the same words in all the different sections and use different colours! This will really help you to put the tricky words into your brain! Good luck and keep practicing!
