

Year 1 Week 6 Art

How does the colour red make you feel? How does the colour blue make you feel? Pink? Yellow? Grey? Today we will be looking at how colour can be used to show emotions (feelings).

Last week we learnt about the Spanish artist Pablo Picasso. You made abstract collage portraits in the style of Picasso. Before he made abstract art he made realist art and this is what we are going to look at today. Picasso had a time where he made lots of blue paintings. This was called his Blue Period. Let's look at some of those paintings.

The Tragedy (1903)
by Pablo Picasso

Sleeping Drinker (1901)
by Pablo Picasso

Woman with Folded Arms (1902)
by Pablo Picasso

Think about the colours that Picasso used.

How do the colours make you feel?

How do you think the people in the paintings are feeling?

Use the emotions mat to help you verbalise your ideas.

Now look at some of his other paintings. What do you notice about them?

Old Woman with Gloves (1901)
by Pablo Picasso

Mother and Child (1929)
by Pablo Picasso

Boy with Bouquet of Flowers in his Hand (1905)
by Pablo Picasso

Think about the colours that Picasso used.

How do these paintings make you feel?

Most people think that warm colours like, red, yellow and orange are happy colours and that cool colours like, blue and green are used for sad things.

However, this is just a general rule it depends on what the picture about (a picture of a happy harbour with lots of water and blue sky could make us feel happy).

Now it's your turn to draw another self-portrait but this time try to use colour to show how you are feeling. Use the emotions mat to give you some ideas. You could choose a time when you were really excited and happy, or you might want to choose a time when you felt angry, lonely or sad. What colours could help to show how you felt?

Remember to think about the shape of the face, and where to put the eyes, ears, nose and mouth.

Like the other week, look at a photo of yourself or look in a mirror to help you to draw your face. Keep looking back at it as you draw. Remember you can choose the emotions and the colours that you think match. Enjoy yourself.
