

Tuesday 9th February – Avatrice

Click below to watch the clip:

Avatrice - THE LITERACY SHED

The year is 1953 and Jacqueline Auriol, the daughter-in-law of the French president is strapped into her jet plan about to create history. This 7-minute film, told in Jacqueline's own words is told through a series of flashbacks describing the events which allowed her to become the first European female to break the sound barrier.

Choose one of the tasks from below to complete, or if you have an alternative idea linked to this video feel free to do that!

Option 1:

Write a biography about Jacqueline Auriol – present it in any way you would like.

Option 2:

Find out about the jet that she flew in. Create an eye-catching poster full of information, images/drawings and facts about it.

Option 3:

Write a letter of congratulations to Jacqueline using a formal tone (because we do not know her). Explain why what she achieved was so important and inspirational.